

Employee Policy Handbook

A Quick Reference Guide to Workplace Policies

Introduction

This handbook brings together the core policies that guide day-to-day life at our organisation, covering working hours, leave entitlements, conduct expectations, remote work, and performance reviews. It is intended as a quick, practical reference for every employee, helping ensure that expectations are clear and consistently applied across teams. Specific terms may be supplemented by additional guidance from your manager or HR representative where local or role-specific needs apply.

Working Hours

Standard working hours run from 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM, Monday through Friday, giving teams a consistent window for collaboration and meetings. Employees are expected to be available and reachable during this period, with reasonable flexibility for genuine personal needs, subject to manager discretion. Any changes to an individual's working pattern, including flexible start times, should be discussed and agreed with their manager in advance.

Leave Policy

Employees are entitled to a balanced mix of leave designed to support both planned time off and unexpected personal needs. The annual entitlement is summarised below:

Leave Type	Annual Entitlement
Casual Leave	12 days
Sick Leave	12 days
Earned Leave	15 days

Casual Leave may be used for short personal matters, Sick Leave for illness or medical needs, and Earned Leave for planned vacations or longer breaks. Leave requests should be submitted through the HR system in advance wherever possible, and approval is subject to business and team coverage needs.

Code of Conduct

Every employee is expected to maintain professional behaviour at all times, treat colleagues, clients, and partners with courtesy and respect, and follow the organisation's broader guidelines on ethics, confidentiality, and workplace safety. A respectful, inclusive environment is everyone's shared responsibility, and any concerns about conduct should be raised promptly with a manager or HR.

Remote Work

To support flexibility while maintaining team collaboration, employees may work remotely for up to two days per week, subject to manager approval. Remote work arrangements should be planned in advance and balanced against team needs, meeting schedules, and project deadlines. Employees working remotely are expected to remain reachable during standard working hours and to maintain the same standards of productivity and communication as when working on-site.

Performance Reviews

Performance evaluations are conducted twice a year, typically at the mid-year and year-end points. These reviews offer a structured opportunity for employees and managers to discuss achievements, address development areas, and set goals for the period ahead. Constructive, two-way feedback is encouraged throughout the year, so that formal reviews build on an ongoing conversation rather than acting as a stand-alone assessment.

Closing Note

This handbook is reviewed periodically and may be updated to reflect changes in organisational policy or applicable law. Employees are encouraged to reach out to HR with any questions or for clarification on any of the policies outlined above.
